making office partitioning simple

Quartzline

Glass partitioning system

SHEER SIMPLICITY

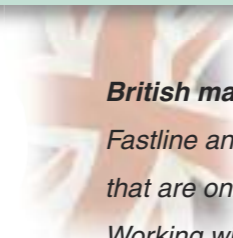

Quartzline full height frameless glass partitioning brings style to the workplace. It provides the perfect solution for those who require a minimalist environment with maximum light transfer.

Quartzline cleverly fulfils a dual role, providing privacy together with a feeling of space and visual awareness. The glazed modules are held together with clear dry PVC joints which create seamless contours. The use of subtle lighting, creative manifestations, company logos and corporate colours can add style and panache to the final design. Combinations of components can be used to produce a unique minimalist environment.

Quartzline is compatible with all Applied Workplace partitioning systems and, as with all our systems, the advantage of easy installation and total relocatability make this the clear choice for all workplace solutions.

British made – tailored partitioning solution
Fastline and Quartzline are British made systems that are only available from Applied Workplace. Working with architects, designers and end users the company is able to provide a full design, build and project management solution tailored to your individual requirements.
